Topic: How much is my Comanche worth? – part 2

What is a particular Comanche worth? How much is your DREAM Comanche likely to cost? This week, we continue last week's initial presentation by Richard Wellford, showcasing his impressive and greatly valued effort in compiling characteristics and prices into a comprehensive database of Comanches for sale/sold from various sources.

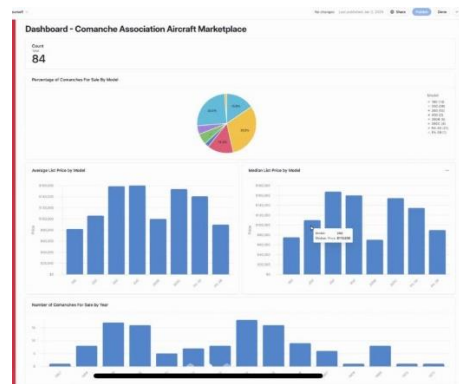

Richard stepped up and amazed everyone with one of the most extraordinary and sorely needed contributions ever made for Comanche enthusiasts. Last week's "test flight" turned into a full-blown presentation with lots of feedback and suggestions from the participants. We are continuing it tonight. Main event is at 8:15pm this week (~1:15 into the recording).

Richard, who has already added capability based on last week's feedback from 6 A&Ps and 30 owners, has graciously agreed to give an updated presentation, providing us the chance to invite everyone to join. We kindly ask everyone who attended last week to join us again, see the changes and the effect you had, and show their support for Richard and OUR project.

Richard envisions this database as a community project and living resource, and we're seeking volunteers to pick your favorite Comanche type and become a key resource by dedicating just 30 minutes per week to updating your type's information, keeping the project updated with the latest changes. We will train, and you will get to collaborate with the best experts in the type to assure its future.
