ComancheZOOM Topic: Short Field Techniques

To quote Ben Franklin from Poor Richard's Almanac, "Failure to plan is planning to fail".

Are you really ready for the challenge of short field operations? Hear what some instructors have to say about this issue, both for arrivals and departures.

In short-field ops, being prepared to fail could save your life. There was also further discussion of specific settings of controls and power to achieve optimal performance.

There is to be a part 2 of this Zoom in the near future to go over specific performance charts detailing takeoff and landing distances for various aircraft loadings and density altitudes.

Be sure to check the Chat file for links to material from the presentation.
